World Day of Prayer for Vocations

Good Shepherd Sunday

I am the good shepherd. A good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. A hired man, who is not a shepherd and whose sheep are not his own, sees a wolf coming and leaves the sheep and runs away, and the wolf catches and scatters them. This is because he works for pay and has no concern for the sheep. I am the good shepherd, and I know mine and mine know me, just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I will lay down my life for the sheep (Jn 10:11-15).

Mass Readings

The First Reading is taken from the Acts of the Apostles 4:8-12. This excerpt is a sequence of what was described in last Sunday's first reading. Peter had cured a cripple-from-birth and told the people that it was not by his own power that he did this, but through the power of Jesus of Nazareth, whom the Jews had crucified.

The Second Reading is from the First Letter of John 3:1-2 in which he sets out in a couple of sentences the basic effect of the Incarnation. Already in this life men are made children of God. Because we are God's children here below we shall see him as he is in the future life.

The Gospel is from St. John 10:11-18. The image of Christ as our Good Shepherd has always appealed to human nature. One of the earliest paintings of Christ in the Roman catacombs represents him as carrying an injured sheep on his shoulders. This is a manifestation of love which touches our innermost feelings. We do not mind being likened to sheep in this context. There is something guileless about a sheep, and at the same time a lot of foolishness. Does not this describe the vast majority of men, even many of those who openly oppose Christ? Is there not something very sheeplike about the man who, because God gave him a limited intellect, thinks he knows all things and needs no further help from God? The sheep who thinks it knows as much, and even more, than the shepherd and sets out to fend for itself, is no more foolish than the man who thinks he can do without God's revelation and God's Church.

Indeed, we all act like sheep on many occasions, when it comes to the things that concern our spiritual welfare. We often ramble off from the flock to nibble at little bits of forbidden pasture. However, we have a Shepherd who understands us, one whose patience and love are infinite. He is always ready to go after us when we stray too far; his voice is constantly reaching out to us in missions, retreats, sicknesses, crosses and other various ways. How many times have we already felt his loving grace calling and helping us back to the safety of his fold?

There are many who are not so fortunate as we, who either through no fault of their own or through their own fault do not hear his voice and do not know or follow him. This is an opportunity he gives us to show how we appreciate all he has done for us. He died on the cross for all men. He wills all men to profit by his death, and his statement "them also I must bring" is a direct appeal to us to cooperate with him in this work. Every Christian is a missionary. The very fact of living the Christian life in its entirety, in the midst of our fellowmen, is of itself a powerful example to outsiders. It influences for good the lax Christian and the non-Christian. It makes them stop and think and look into their consciences. This is generally the first step on the road back to God.

The devout Christian will not stop at good example only. If he truly loves God, he must truly love his neighbor and must want him to have a share in his own good fortune. He knows there is welcome and room in heaven for all men, and he knows that the greater the number there the greater will be God's eternal glory. He will strive then by every available means to help his neighbor into Christ's fold.

After good example, prayer will be his most potent weapon. Day in, day out the devout Christian must pray for the conversion of his fellowmen who are wandering aimlessly in the barren desert of this life far from God. He must also learn all he can about the truths of his faith in order to be able to help honest enquirers. He must also cooperate with any parochial or diocesan societies for the propagation of the faith, insofar as his family and financial state allow him.

The sermon preached by our Savior nearly two thousand years ago is still echoing and re-echoing around the world, calling on his faithful flock to do all in their power to help those other children of God who are still outside the fold. Do not shut your ears to this call of Christ today. Give him a helping hand by helping your fellowman to see the light of the true faith.

Pastoral Letter from Bishop Kirkpatrick

This Sunday we celebrate a World Day of Prayer for Vocations with the theme, 'Called to sow seeds of hope and to build peace.' We are invited to reflect on the precious gift of the Lord's call to each one of us in different states of life. Pope Francis noted that all Christians are called to welcome our God-given vocation to serve in the world, whether it be through the consecrated life, the priesthood, marriage, or as a single person. He said gratitude should characterize World Vocations Day, as we recall the countless Christians who serve God in all walks of life. He also invited young people to make room for God, so that they might find happiness in God's call, which always respects our freedom. This Day is also dedicated in a particular way to imploring from the heavenly Father the gift of vocations for the building up of his Kingdom: "Ask the Lord of the harvest to send out labourers into his harvest" (Lk 10:2).

Seminarians

Our Diocese is blessed to have two men preparing for the priesthood. Deacon David Rankin will be ordained at St. Ninian Cathedral on May 31 at 3 pm. Mr. Joseph MacMaster who has completed two years of Theology will continue his seminary education on a pastoral internship year, in a parish to be determined. In support of our seminarians, Dr. Barry R. MacKenzie, President of Antigonish Diocesan Society said, "We are proud to be able to support the education of young men for the priesthood, and we are so grateful to the individuals and parishes of our Diocese for their contributions to our fund." This Sunday there will be a collection for this fund. We are grateful for the efforts of our Antigonish Diocesan Society.

New Priests Have Arrived

Father Isidore Chidi Enyinnaya from the Diocese of Umuahia, Nigeria arrived on March 21. He is age 53 and he was ordained July 18, 1998. He is at St. Ann Church in Guysborough.

Father Rowland Uzoma Agomuo from the Diocese of Aba, Nigeria arrived on April 3. He is age 41 and he was ordained August 14, 2010. He is at St. John the Baptist Church in New Glasgow.

Father Anthony Ndubuisi Eboh from the Diocese of Umuahia, Nigeria arrived on April 15. He is age 52 and he was ordained July 13, 2002. He has been working in the Diocese of London for the past six years. He will be the new Chaplain at the Cape Breton Regional Hospital and Pastor of St. Margaret of Scotland Church in Grand Mira and Sacred Heart in Marion Bridge. He will live at St. Marguerite Bourgeoys Glebe House.

Deacon News

Deacon Michael Doyle serving in Guysborough asked to retire from active ministry. We thank him for his twelve years of service. He indicated that since he trained in Ignatius Spirituality, he will continue to provide spiritual direction. Deacon Michael McCarvill requested and obtained from the Dicastery for the Clergy, a dispensation from celibacy and from the clerical state. He will no longer serve as a deacon. We thank him for his service as a deacon and extend our best wishes to him in the future.

Personnel Committee

I thank Father Tom MacNeil, Father Paul Abbass, Father Bedford Doucette, Father Doug MacDonald, and Father Danny MacLennan for serving on this Committee. Since we needed to update our Personnel Committee after three years, I have asked the following priests to serve as members of the Personnel Committee.

Father Tom MacNeil,

Father Colin MacKinnon,

Father Godwin Kalu, SMMM (I asked Father to serve on this Committee because he brings the experience of being a Regional Superior of the SMMM and he can also provide a good perspective on our twenty-one international priests.)

I am letting you know about these new Committee members since we will meet soon to help me plan pastoral moves. If you have any thoughts or concerns, you can contact me, or one of these Committee members.

Sisters of St. Martha

We remember in our prayers the Sisters of St. Martha who are engaged with their 20th General Chapter with the election of new leadership.

Fraternally,

+ Wayne Joseph

Bishop Wayne Kirkpatrick

Rev. Joseph Gregory Sampson

By Stephen Sampson

On January 27th of this year Father Joseph Gregory Sampson, a member of The Congregation of Jesus and Mary (CJM), also known as The Eudists,<sup>1</sup> passed away in Quebec City. Father Greg, as he was affectionately known, was a native of St. Peter's. He was the son of the late Damien (Dan) and Charlotte "Lottie"(Boucher) of St. Peter's. A veteran of World War II, Father Greg served with the Royal Canadian Navy. Following service to his country, he attended St. F. X. University and Willowbrook Seminary in Washington. Father Greg was ordained to the priesthood in 1954. He served in parishes in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Buffalo, New York. Father Greg returned to Nova Scotia in 2008 and served as assistant pastor in Wedgeport and Meteghan. He retired to the Eudist Complex in Quebec at age 90. Father Greg derived great pleasure in visiting family and friends back home. He loved the outdoors, fishing, and a competitive game of crib. A good feed of lobsters always summed up a great day of enjoyment and family entertainment. The members of our Eastern Family Parishes extend our heartfelt sympathy to his sister, Leona Middleton of Three Island Cove, and her entire family. Father Greg's Memorial Mass will take place in May with service and burial at St. Peter's.

<sup>1</sup> St. John Eudes is probably best known for the central theme of his writings: Jesus as the source of holiness; Mary as the model of the Christian life. His devotion to the Sacred Heart and to the Immaculate Heart led Pope Pius XI to declare him the father of the liturgical cult of the Hearts of Jesus and Mary.

Rev. Ora McManus died on Tuesday, February 13, 2024. There will be a Vigil Prayer Service at 7:00 pm Sunday, April 21 at St. Marguerite Bourgeoys Parish, 40 Cabot St. Sydney with a Mass of Christian Burial celebrated there on Monday, April 22 at 11:00 am.

Community News

HGA: L'Ardoise Acadian Festival meeting will be held on Monday, April 29th. @ 6:00 PM. Our festival is only three months away and in order to make it a successful event we need your help. Hope to see you there.
